

HELLO!

NUMBER 893 • 17 NOVEMBER 2005 • £1.90

Fashion news

Child's play

This little piggy...

Any new mum who loves her designer labels will appreciate This Little Piggy Went To Prada, (£12.95, Spy Publishing). Amy Allen's beautifully illustrated book features 21 revamped, tongue-in-cheek nursery rhymes for the Blahnik brigade, with gems such as "Hickory, dickory, dock, how big is Mummy's rock? Five carats from Graf, so we can't pay the staff! Hickory, dickory, dock". You'll also find the traditional versions at the back of the book. For every copy sold, the publisher will donate ten per cent of the profits to Save the Children.

