

WE ARE NOT STILL YOUR FAVOURITE MAGAZINE
AC NIELSEN MEDIA INDEX 2005

ner world

DECEMBER 2005 $6.00
SINGAPORE

ALL OUT
GLAMOUR
FOR ANY SHAPE,
EVERY PARTY

EXCLUSIVE!
Homeless, jobless
and drunk, yet he was perfect for me!"

The Best
Dress
List

HO! HO! HO!
FROM MARK
THE BODY S WISMA AT

8 888737 105678 >

By Karen Kwa

fashion news

Fashion rhymes

Instead of nursery rhymes racked with violent tumbles like Jack and Jill and Humpty Dumpty, we wish our parents read us This Little Piggy Went to Prada when we were toddlers. Author Amy Allen has come up with a stylishly witty book that wouldn't put yummy mummies to sleep at the same time the young ones do. The irreverent humour is entertaining and the illustrations – done by Eun-Kyung Kang, regular contributor to Vogue and i-D – are so brilliant, you'd want to frame them up like a fashion spread. It's the ultimate purchase for lovers of Bill Amberg baby slings, Dior Teddy bears and Kate Spade baby slings, says Amy. Now isn't that fabby?

"Cobbler, Cobbler, mend my shoes. Careful please, they're Christian Lous. Those red soles, they'll never date. They'll still be hot in Spring '08."

$39.80 at major bookstores. 10 per cent of sales will go to Action for Aids.

THIS LITTLE PIGGY WENT TO PRADA
BY AMY ALLEN

Fashion rhymes

Instead of nursery rhymes racked with violent tumbles like Jack and Jill and Humpty Dumpty, we wish our parents read us This Little Piggy Went to Prada when we were toddlers. Author Amy Allen has come up with a stylishly witty book that wouldn't put yummy mummies to sleep at the same time the young ones do. The irreverent humour is entertaining and the illustrations – done by Eun-Kyung Kang, regular contributor to Vogue and i-D – are so brilliant, you'd want to frame them up like a fashion spread. It's the ultimate purchase for lovers of Bill Amberg baby slings, Dior Teddy bears and Kate Spade baby slings, says Amy. Now isn't that fabby?

"Cobbler, Cobbler, mend my shoes. Careful please, they're Christian Lous. Those red soles, they'll never date. They'll still be hot in Spring '08."

THIS LITTLE PIGGY WENT TO PRADA

BY AMY ALLEN

$39.80 at major bookstores. 10 per cent of sales will go to Action for Aids.

Tiny thoughts

While gift-shopping in Metro, stop to pick up this adorable little sheep and five other plush animal magnets, that come with a booklet of over $500 worth of vouchers. Just make a donation of any amount and you'll be helping children and women from needy communities in Asia. Till Dec 24 or while stocks last.

